"Did you ever hear Gadby say anything particular about me?" "No; he never was very particular what he said about you."—Stray Stories.

"Good heavens! What is the matter?" "The people on the second story have gone away and left their autoplano playing."—Fliegende Blätter.

"How do the apples get into the dumplings?" "I give it up. How do the peaches get into these tight gowns?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Richard Le Gallienne, the poet, was entertaining a group of magazine editors at luncheon in New York. To a compliment upon his fame Mr. Le Gallienne said lightly: "But what is poetical fame in this age of prose? Only yesterday a schoolboy came and asked me for my autograph. I assented willingly. And today at breakfast time the boy again presented himself. 'Will you give me your autograph, sir?' he said. 'But,' said I, 'I gave you my autograph yesterday.' 'I swopped that and a dollar,' he answered, for the autograph of Jim Jeffries."

Willie—Ma, can't I go out on the street for a little while? Tommy Jones says there's a comet to be seen. Mother—Well, yes; but don't you go too near.—Boston Transcript.

"Do you give your wife an allowance?" "Yes." "How much do you allow her?" "Don't you think it is rather impertinent for you to ask what my salary is?"—Houston Post.

First Lady—Did you notice, Mrs. 'Awkes 'ad a black eye? Second Lady—Did I not! And 'er 'usband not out of prison for another week. I don't call it respectable.—London Opinion.

"Ah, sir, we do enjoy your sermons," remarked an old lady to a new curate. "They are so instructive. We never knew what sin was until you came to the parish."—Sacred Heart Review.

"Died in poverty!" cried the philosopher, scornfully. "Died in poverty, did he, an' you expect me to sympathize? Gorstooth, what is there in dying of poverty? I've got to live in it."—Sporting Times.

"There is Nebuchadnezzar eating grass like an ox!" said one courtier. "Let's hope for the best," replied another. "Maybe he's trying to get even with the Babylonian beef trust."—Washington Star.

Among applicants for service as a general housemaid in a Pittsburg family was a raw-boned Irish girl of rather forbidding aspect. "Do you love children?" asked the mistress of the house, when satisfied that the girl would suit with respect to most requirements. "Well, mum," responded the Celt, with a grim smile, "that all depends on the wages."

A clerk in Belgrade, Serbia named Velislav Simonovitch, on the strength of an increase of salary recently telegraphed to a young woman of Los-nitsa and asked her to share his fortunes. The regulation tax allows ten words for the minimum fee, and her answer ran "Yes, gladly, willingly, joyfully, delightfully, gratefully, lovingly, yes, yes, yes."

William Travers Jerome, when district attorney of New York, went down to Georgia to address the Georgia Bar association. Colonel Peter Meldrim was showing Jerome around. "You see that man," said the colonel, pointing out a distinguished person who sat on the hotel porch. "I do." "Well, suh, that is a man in whom our state takes great pride. He is Judge —, suh, the only man in Georgia who can strut sitting down."

M. Paul was a grocer. Rats overran his city, and a price of two sous a head was placed upon them by the town council. M. Paul's errand boy, working early and late, managed to slay ninety rats in the cellars and attics of the shop. The boy took his prey to the city hall, and, returning to the grocery jubilant, showed M. Paul the nine francs he had gained. The grocer held out his palm. "Hand the money here," he said. "You know very well those rats were mine, not yours."

"What kind of a man would you like for a husband?" "Oh, either a bachelor or a widower. I'm not particular which."—Universalist Leader.
